GRAHAM FORD

PRESIDENT OF THE
INTERNATIONAL LIFE SAVING FEDERATION

On behalf of the International Lifesaving Federation (ILS) I am pleased to welcome participants from all around the world to the Lifesaving World Championships 2022 (LWC2022) in the beautiful Italian city of Riccione.

It is now almost 4 years since we last held LWC 2018 in Adelaide, Australia, and the intervening years have seen many events affected by the Covid-19 pandemic. We cannot forget that Italy itself became a focal point in the initial weeks as the virus continued to spread far and wide. When the ILS took the unenviable decision to postpone LWC 2020 to 2022, many thought this was the wrong decision.

However, the last two years has shown just how sensible that decision was as we could not have held it in 2021. Even then, because of the logistical impacts of managing through the Covid-19 pandemic, we reluctantly had to cancel all the Interclub events except the Masters, that precedes the National Teams events.

Now, here we are in September 2022 with a record attendance of 55 National Teams in the National Teams Championships. The commitment of the Italian Federation, FIN, in financially supporting attendees from the Developing Nations of the ILS to enable them to attend, many for the first time, is a very generous and substantial amount, for which we are very grateful.

We will also see almost 550 Masters participating in their events in the week leading up to the National Team Championships, which is very pleasing to see, particularly in the light of the challenges faced by participants because of Covid-19.

We are also very grateful to FIN for hosting an additional International Event alongside the Masters Lifesaving World Championships to provide some opportunities for those aged 15 to 29 whose Interclub events were unfortunately cancelled. The FIN Rescue World Cup will see more than 360 younger competitors from almost 90 clubs participating.

Finally, I want to recognize the extraordinary effort that FIN has put into organizing and delivering the LWC 2022 events. So many difficult challenges have been put before them but they have not held back in putting on an excellent Lifesaving World Championships.

Thank you and well done FIN!

DANIELA ANGELINI

MAYOR OF RICCIONE

The city of Riccione is glad to host a prestigious international event such as the Lifesaving World Championships and the 1st International Conference about Swimming Cup.

The event will see the presence of the International Federal Presidents and some distinguished representatives of sports Institutions. Riccione will be honored to take part in the debate on important topic such as the safety of citizens of all ages, in all the occasions of sport and leisure. It will be a great and competitive sporting showcase and also an opportunity to present Riccione once again, as the ideal location for this kind of event.

Riccione is a city open to the world of sport, with the renovated facilities of the Swimming Stadium and with its hotels, all walking distance, well connected and prepared to welcome its guests. But Riccione is also a city open to respect, tolerance and dialogue among people.

On the occasion of the Lifesaving World Championships, Riccione will provide every service and, above all, its unique soul made of human principle and hospitality culture. Care and professionalism will be constant to ensure an extraordinary edition of the World Championship and to provide to the guests an unforgettable experience.

PAOLO BARELLI

ITALIAN SWIMMING FEDERATION

Dear Friends,

We are very glad to host the XXX Edition of the European Lifesaving Championships for National Teams, Interclub and Masters. Dear Friends, we are very happy to host the 15th edition of the World Lifesaving Swimming Championships dedicated to competitive and master athletes and the first edition of the World Cup Rescue.

The Italian Swimming Federation's objectives in the field of water safety and prevention have always been the same as those of the International Lifesaving Federation (ILS): to promote the culture of water through the educational and sporting projections of the discipline; to further guarantee the prevention, protection and safety of those who swim in the water through the education and training of Lifeguards working along the 8.000 km of Italian coastlines, rivers and lakes; to ensure the safety of those who swim in the water through the education and training of Lifeguards working along the 8.000 km of Italian coastlines, rivers and lakes; to lower accidents or deaths due to drowning below 0.5% per 100,000 inhabitants; to increase the safety of those who swim in the water; and to improve the safety of those who swim in the water by providing education and training for Lifeguards working along the 8.000 km of Italian coastlines, rivers and lakes; to lower accidents or deaths due to drowning below 0.5% per 100,000 inhabitants; to increase information, awareness, defence and protection of the water area.

For the more than 1,500 participating athletes, managers, coaches, volunteers and families it will be an opportunity to grow and share the value of safeguarding human life within this prestigious event that will take place in Riccione from 21 September to 2 October 2022. The Swimming Stadium and the beach of Riccione will be the setting for the events in the pool and in the sea; the city will be transformed into a place for meeting and sharing different lifestyles, all under the banner of the same principles of swimming and solidarity.

Italy is famous for quality of life, artistic and cultural heritage, beautiful landscape, warm and mild climate, food, fashion, cinema, sense of humour and hospitality. Riccione unites all these characteristics and represents the perfect location to visit the Bel Paese.

As a former swimmer and as president of the Italian Federation, I am proud that the ILS selected Italy to host the Lifesaving World Championships, which will be organised with passion, competence, and responsibility, in full collaboration with the Polisportiva Comunale Riccione, which I thank, in order to promote a sporting discipline with deep social aims: the only one in the world to combine competitive action with public service.

Respect for life and sport are everyone's values.

Defend them and have fun!

GIUSEPPE SOLFRINI

POLISPORTIVA RICCIONE

As President of the Polisportiva Comunale Riccione, I am delighted and honored to host at the Riccione Swimming Stadium the Lifesaving World Championships.

An event that brings the whole world to Riccione and that we are ready to welcome not only with the hospitality that distinguishes our people, but also with the great professionalism that over the years we have been able to demonstrate organizing numerous National and International Sports events.

I know what it means, from a logistical point of view, to create an event of this kind.

For this reason I can already in advance thank all the staff of the Polisportiva Comunale Riccione and the Riccione Swimming Stadium who have welcomed this occasion with great enthusiasm.

To do our best, on our side we have a city that you can fall in love with, set between the sea, the long beaches and the hills, and the opportunity to welcome you the athletes, your travelling companions and your families in a first class sports facility as the Riccione Swimming Stadium.

What makes us even more proud is that on this occasion we will not only host simple athletes or future champions, but young men and women that besides improving, competing and trying to break records, have as their ultimate goal to help those in water who are in difficulty and therefore the objective to save lives.

So then, let the winners be the values of sport, healthy competition and friendship among the people.

GIORGIO QUINTAVALLE

FIN LIFESAVING SECTION PRESIDENT

Dear friends,

Riccione 2022: Fifty-five countries representing all continents; lifesaving begins with the first world championship of the post covid19 era, setting a record of participating nations. A matter of pride for the Italian Swimming Federation's Lifesaving Section, but above all a great motivation for the world of lifesaving, which, with renewed energy, projects its own consolidated image on the international sporting scene.

It is now a consolidated heritage of world culture that sport is able to generate values that can be transferred to everyday life; let us recall together, for a moment, the most obvious ones:

Athletes know that commitments cannot be waived. If the competition is on 27 September 2022, there is no way to ask for an extension. Either you are ready on that day or the opportunity is lost. No excuse, no pretext, no chance. Athletes know that sport is meritocratic and that nothing is forever: there are those who come first, those who come second and those who come third, but impermanence rules.

Athletes know that work pays: talent is important, fundamental, but not sufficient. Without commitment and perseverance, results do not come.

Athletes know that the opponent is a constituent element of competition. It is not an enemy, but a necessary presence so that, through confrontation with it, we can strive for our improvement.

Athletes know that there are no differences related to ethnicity, political opinions or religious beliefs: on the competition fields we are all human beings, wonderfully different with our talents.

But lifesaving swimming, in addition to all this, has an extra magic, that of having as the ultimate goal of its sport the building of skills and capacities aimed at helping those in difficulty in the water. The aim of our wonderful sport is to save lives. Anyone who cannot swim can learn, anyone who can swim can become an athlete, and becoming a rescue athlete also means becoming an aquatic rescuer.

We have just said that sport is also healthy competition: well, lifesaving is the best sport in the world!

Good luck Friends

RICCIONE FEELING GOOD

A warm welcome and hospitality: these are the typical features of Riccione identity, a town that doesn't forget tradition even if it looks ahead to change and new tendencies.

With the passing of time, beaches have changed too and have been furnished with modern bathing establishments, well equipped and endowed with technological system.

The hotels, the sea promenade, the historic streets for strolling along and shopping too have been involved in the process of change and can proudly keep up with the new buildings dedicated to sports and leisure, conferences, business and events.
